

Safety and Reliability Improvement Program

Safe and reliable practice delivers great care for every person, every day

MSAMHS have been selected to join a group of leading Asia Pacific healthcare organisations as a programme partner in the Cognitive Institute Safety and Reliability Improvement Programme (SRIP).

This partnership recognises our commitment to provide care that is Responsive, Integrated, Safe and Effective (RISE). RISE is the cornerstone of our Clinical Governance Framework.

This partnership will deliver improvement projects, develop our leadership capability and improve our accountability practices so that we always deliver great care for every person, every day.

Supporting your professional practice

MSAMHS is committed to providing you with opportunities to engage in education and research so you can achieve the highest professional standards. To help you RISE to the challenge of providing great care to every person every day, we have partnered with an international provider of healthcare education, to present the Safety and Reliability Improvement Program.

Elements of the Program

Speaking Up for Safety™

All of us have a responsibility to speak up when we are concerned about a patient safety issue – but sometimes people may find this difficult.

This is a one hour training workshop aimed at increasing skills for staff members to respectfully raise patient safety concerns with colleagues using graded assertiveness communication skills.

Promoting Professional Accountability

An evidenced based programme that provides our service with a sustainable, organisation-wide framework and training to achieve the highest levels of safety and reliability.

The programme recognises that the actions of all staff play an important role in ensuring that no one person can adversely impact on achieving an optimum culture of safety and reliability.

Reliability courses

Mastering Safer and Reliable Practice Workshops and Leading Reliability Improvement for Safer Healthcare Workshops will provide clinicians with knowledge, insights, essential strategies and practical tools to maximise their delivery of reliable and safer care.
