

Against Gender-Based Violence

25 November – 10 December

DFV impacts all communities. Evidence does show that particular groups may experience a heightened likelihood and additional barriers:

- » Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander women and families
- » Young women
- » Older Australians
- » Women with a disability
- » Women with a mental health illness
- » Women experiencing intimate sexual violence
- » Women separating or contemplating separation

The time for change is here and now. Violence against women is preventable.
