Consumer Liaison Service

At Queensland Health we are keen to receive your feedback. It assists us in improving our services both for you and your community. As a healthcare consumer, you have a right to provide feedback and have your concerns heard.

How to progress:

- Make your feedback/complaint at the treatment level
  - Immediate response

  The manager of the ward or clinical area would like to resolve your issue or receive your feedback right away to be acted on immediately.

- Formalise your complaint with the Consumer Liaison Service
  - This level of response is more involved and will take longer

  You can formally provide feedback/complaint with the service by phone, email or in writing to the Consumer Liaison Service - details below.

  They will review your feedback in association with the clinical team or using your clinical chart and will provide a response.

- You can progress your feedback to an external source
  - This level of response is extensive, involving and will take time

  You also have the option of contacting external parties, such as the Office of the Health Ombudsman.

  Formalised complaints through external parties will receive a formal response. Please be aware that the Consumer Liaison Service is integral to external investigations so you may wish to consult with our service before progressing.
